~ Coupon Usage Terms ~

Limit one coupon per specified item(s) purchased

The coupon may also be worded:

Limit 1 per purchase.

Limit 1 coupon per item purchased.

Limit 1 coupon per purchase of specified item(s).

Limit 1 coupon per purchase of product specified.

Only 1 coupon is redeemable per purchase only on specified products and sizes.

The easiest way to remember this type of coupon is "1 for 1" -- 1 coupon for 1 item. You cannot use 2 or more coupons for 1 item. The word "purchase" on the coupon does not mean "transaction" or "shopping trip". Each item you buy is considered a purchase. The coupon limits you to 1 coupon for each item you purchase in the same transaction or shopping trip. If you purchase 3 items, you may use 3 of this type of coupon.

Limit 1 Coupon Per Transaction

You can only use this type of coupon to buy 1 item in one transaction. You may not use 2 of the same coupons in one transaction. For example, if you wanted to buy 2 same items and you have 2 same type of coupons, you would need to buy 1, use 1 coupon, pay the cashier, and then do a separate transaction for your 2nd item, use 2nd coupon, and pay the cashier again.

The coupon only limits you to 1 item of this type of coupon per transaction. You can buy another same item if you have a different coupon, and can use them both together in the same transaction because they are not identical coupons. 'Limit 1 coupon per transaction' printed on one coupon does not affect how you use other coupons in the same transaction. If you have other items with a coupon for each, you may still purchase all items in one transaction.

Limit of 4 Like Coupons in Same Shopping Trip

You usually see this on Proctor & Gamble coupons. The maximum number of same items which you can purchase in the same shopping trip is 4, using 4 'like' coupons. If the value of the coupon is $1.00 off 2 items, you may use 4 coupons on 8 items. If you have the same 'like' coupons for different items, you may use 4 of each in the same shopping trip, because the coupons are for different items.

> - Stack a CVS store coupon with a manufacturer coupon for extra savings.
> - Go to CVS.com > Deals tab > Coupons to print store coupons.
> - Scan your CVS card in the CVS red machine before shopping for coupons that may be used with current sales ad.
> - Give cashier CVS coupons first, then manufacturer coupons. For example: You want to stack a $2 off $10 Crest store coupon with (4) $1 Crest manufacturer coupons. If you present the manufacturer coupons first, it may deduct $4 from the $10 required purchase and you would not be able to redeem the store coupon.
> - You can get items for FREE at Longs Drugs if the coupon value is more than the sale price. The value of the coupon will be marked down to the sale price amount and no credit or cash back is given.
> - Ask for a rain check if the product is out of stock. CVS rain checks do not expire.

SAFEWAY:

Sign up for a free Safeway Club Card at: http://www.safeway.com/IFL/Grocery/Homeland or complete an application in store.   Present your card each time you make a purchase for Club sale prices.

> - You must cut out Just4U store coupons or manufacturer's coupons or add the store and manufacturer coupons on your Club Card to redeem the coupon or get the Personalized Deal sale price.
> - Stack a Safeway store coupon with a manufacturer coupon for extra savings.

➢ Print a list of the coupons loaded on your Safeway card to verify the expiration date and confirm if the coupon is one-time use or unlimited, and verify if it is a store or manufacturer's coupon.

➢ Ask for a rain check if the product is out of stock. Safeway rain checks expire after 90 days.

WALMART:

Walmart gives you cash back or credit applied to your purchase if the value of the coupon is more than the price of an item = "moneymaker".

Take advantage of Walmart's 'Ad Match Guarantee' to save time and gas money. Walmart matches the sale price of items on sale at other stores. The sale price must be for a specific amount ($2.99) and not a percentage (25% off).

➢ Although not required, bring the other store ads to confirm the sale price, as needed.
